

Our history

Delivering affordable financial solutions

Products:

Individual term life insurance policies provide financial protection for the beneficiaries of our individual and business policy owners. Group annuities provide retirement plan participants with secure, guaranteed income.

Independent agency distribution:

Our brokerage network includes twelve marketing groups with nearly 500 member agencies. Through these agencies, Banner has contracted approximately 135,000 agents and brokers in 49 states and the District of Columbia. William Penn products are sold in New York only. There are more than 20,000 agents and brokers associated with NY independent agencies. The agents and brokers help consumers identify needs for insurance coverage and suitable products.

NAILBA affiliation:

The majority of agencies that represent Legal & General America are members of the National Association of Independent Life Brokerage Agencies (NAILBA). NAILBA is a nonprofit trade association promoting financial security and consumer choice.

Direct-to-consumer channel:

Legal & General America is growing its operations for customers who prefer to purchase term life insurance online via a digital application. A website and call center is provided for consumer interaction.

Founding facts

1949: Government Employees Life Insurance Company (GELICO), the company that became Banner Life Insurance Company, was chartered.

1963: Modern Life Insurance Company was founded. Its name changed in 1975 to William Penn Life Insurance Company of New York.

1981: GELICO was acquired by Legal & General Group Plc as a wholly owned subsidiary. In 1983 the name was changed to Banner, signifying our flagship position in the US.

1989: William Penn was purchased as a wholly owned subsidiary of Banner.

2011: Our marketing identity was simplified into one, Legal & General America, to become part of a global brand.

How we've grown

1950: GELICO ranked in the top 12 percent of U.S. life companies. Our average policy size was $2,400, and the average annual premium was $50.

1975: GELICO had assets of $124 million and $1.7 billion of insurance in force.

1976: GELICO was among a select group of companies to be rated A+ (superior) by A.M. Best; a rating we've held on to ever since.

2021: Legal & General America is ranked the number two provider of term life insurance in the US, issuing more than $63 billion in new coverage in 2021.¹ We also issued approximately $1.1 billion in new annuity contracts in 2021.

Legal & General America is growing; our life insurance in force is over $780 billion.² Another testament to our financial strength, the Legal & General America operating companies had over $8 billion in assets at year-end 2021.³

Our core values remain

1966: GELICO board chairman, Lorimer Davidson: "We're proud to be part of a great industry which began thousands of years ago to satisfy man's longing for security."

2015: Legal & General Group CEO, Nigel Wilson: "We provide people with financial solutions and services that allow them to plan for their futures, to deal with the most exciting, critical or difficult financial moments in their lives."

2018: Legal & General Retirement America President, George Palms: "With decades of experience behind us, our team of industry experts is providing innovative solutions that meet the needs of our customers and the demands of the market. We are committed to delivering a customized approach and top-of-the-line customer service for our clients and annuitants."

2019: Legal & General America CFO, Drew Love: "Our path forward remains focused on protection solutions for all Americans. Expansion of digital capabilities, distribution partnerships and new product innovation will be critical to our success, as we help families secure their financial futures."
